Anuj Sharma from POCO India reveals the secret behind the brand's incredible growth story

Soham Raninga | soham@digit.in

We caught up with an elated Anuj Sharma, fresh off the heels of IDC's Worldwide Quarterly Mobile Phone Tracker (August 2021) report, declaring a staggering 865% growth for POCO in Q2 2021. For the uninitiated, POCO started as a sub-brand from Xiaomi in 2018 and later on went on to become an independent brand at the beginning of 2020, in the Indian market. Currently, POCO has about 10 smartphone models on offer, and almost all of them play the performance card across their respective segments. So, what got POCO the success in such a short time? Here are the key moments from our interaction with Anuj Sharma, Country Director, POCO India.

d As per the IDC Worldwide Quarterly Mobile Phone Tracker, August 2021, POCO has registered 865% growth in Q2 2021. What is the secret behind this growth?

POCO: A lot of factors contributed to the growth. Starting with the macro factors first. While the pandemic has been very very hard on everyone, it has also seen a massive rise in the adoption of online shopping. People who were earlier not comfortable buying products or services online have now started transacting online and are a lot more comfortable with the idea of shopping online. Parallelly, and related in some way, we've also seen the shift from feature phones to smartphones finally happening at a much faster pace. With smartphones being so easily accessible from a price
