

Laser blazers

Who needs a laser printer? The answer is quite simple: if your daily work routine involves printing a large number of sheets for office use and more importantly, you need the printouts real fast, then you need a laser printer. If you are not satisfied with your old inkjet printer and are thinking of upgrading to something better and faster, and something that still fits your budget, then you need a laser printer. To make the choice easier for you, we test 10 laser printers costing less than Rs 30,000.