Survey for Developers

Digit has launched a new initiative called devworks some time back. With this initiative, we bring you content that can enhance your programming skills. We would like to understand from you areas that most interest you. This would help us deliver content that is most relevant to you.

Every participant gets an assured gift voucher from Digit worth Rs.50. The voucher can be used to buy any of the current or past issues of Digit from Digit Store or can be used to book in advance the future issues of Digit.

October 2010

Digit is taking interactivity to a new level, and will be organising events every month. You get to meet and interact with people that you wouldn't in the normal course of your life — industry experts, Team Digit, and other readers with similar interests. Stay updated and stay ahead of the curve by looking for this page in every month's magazine.

1 Webinar

Choose your PC components

Want to build a new PC? Cant decide whether to go in for a Core i5 or Core 2 Duo? How good are the new NVIDIA Fermi 400 series cards in comparison to the ATI 5xxx series? Attended this sequel to our previous webinar and have all your doubts cleared. Due to the overwhelming response for our previous webinar, here we'll feature besides customised configs to suit your every need, an even longer question answer session. Your definitive guide to getting advice on what configuration suits your needs best.
