

According to a recent study, the emotional upheavals on twitter can predict changes in the Dow Jones three days later, with an accuracy of almost 80 per cent. Of course one mustn't forget the randomness of the markets in the first place and the ability of researchers to co-relate anything.

<http://bit.ly/aWDEWP>