Music Player M1000 ▶▶
Tap the music, silently

Roku's SoundBridge Network Music Player is made for all those digital music junkies who need to stream their Mac and PC-based files all over the house. No moving parts here; it comes with 16 MB of DRAM, wired Ethernet support as well as a slot for a Compact Flash Wi-Fi card to connect to your Wi-Fi enabled PC. Connect this to your home theatre either through the optical digital output or the coaxial digital output. Control the music through the infrared remote, or use a handy PC interface—either way, your music will follow you.
