

The Electronic Ticket

Planning and booking your flight online is a good idea. You can also print your ticket at home, and if you've paid for it, it will also let you into the airport!

Electronic Ticket is Jet Airways' ticketless travel service. An electronic image of your ticket is stored in Jet Airways' reservation system.

Booking a ticket online starts at the homepage itself. Just choose your origin and destination and start the process

Once you have chosen all the legs of your journey, you can choose from the various flights available to confirm

Once your itinerary is fixed, fill in your personal details so the ticket can be generated

A multi-city tour, such as where you fly from Mumbai to Ahmedabad to Delhi and back to Mumbai, can also be booked online

There are a couple of bugs here, too, like when the drop down menu shows places that cannot be included in a multi-city domestic tour—like Singapore!

The itinerary receipt is your confirmation of travel.

On a successful purchase the system will generate an Electronic Ticket and a printable itinerary receipt will be displayed.

You will need to print this itinerary receipt and use it for your access to the airport and check-in.

To enter the airport and for check-in, you must present the itinerary receipt along with a valid photo identification (Official Government issued photo identification/driving license/election photo identification/passport (for international passengers only)/photo credit card).

For valid reason(s) if your ticket does not get generated online, your itinerary receipt will show an alert as "Your Ticket was not issued". Hence, this receipt cannot be used for airport entry or check-in.

The Fine Print

Once purchased, changes or cancellation to this booking cannot be made online.

To do this, you need to contact a Jet Airways Reservation office. (Reproduced from www.jetairways.com)
