

30 GADGETS TO BUY THIS DIWALI

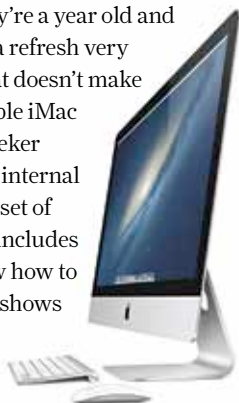

With Diwali and Christmas around the corner, it's time to loosen those purse strings and splurge that big, fat, bonus paycheck away. Apart from hunting for the best deals online and in retail stores, these are some of the gadgets that you shouldn't be missing out on. Happy shopping!

Jayesh Shinde

51

Apple iMac

Granted they're a year old and about to get a refresh very soon, but that doesn't make the 2012 Apple iMac any less desirable. It sports a sleeker shell than ever before, and good internal hardware, not to mention a rich set of connectivity and I/O ports that includes Thunderbolt. Apple really know how to make great screen panels and it shows on the iMac. The PC may be dead, but there's still some life left in the venerable Apple AIO.

52 PS4

This is the year of console refreshes and if you're not buying the Xbox, you gotta buy the PS4. How can you not, if you're a console gamer? There are plenty of good reasons to make the upgrade: sweet new specs, an all new controller design, and never-before-seen PSN features – including live broadcasting. The device's scheduled to launch later next month, but not in India. Need pre-ordering tips? Flip over to "Where the deals at."

