For the past 13 years, we've been steadfast in our mission to be your most trusted friend when it comes to everything you may want to or should know about technology. That's why we are thrilled (and dare we say, proud) to reveal this brand new version of Digit. We're now simply, Digit, a name that

The responsive design means digit.in is optimised to run on any device – cell phone, tablet or laptop almost everyone interested in technology over the last decade (and more) has grown familiar with. We are celebrating our 13th anniversary with this spanking new website, which has been re-engineered for a better experience. Here's a quick walkthrough of what has changed and how we intend to deliver a much improved online version of Digit with our new website – Digit.in Responsive design

Digit.in is tailored for a seamless experience across all device form factors. By going responsive, we are ensuring the best viewing experience and easy navigation across desktops, laptops, smartphones and tablets.
