he time is 04:00 am. You have just returned from an exciting expedition hunting down a historical sunken ship. It was rumoured to hold vast riches preserving it perfectly underwater. The rumours turned out to be right!

You're celebrating the excellent haul you salvaged by roaming the city streets and partying all night with your friends.

Finally, you head back to your seaside villa. Your smart home automatically recognizes you, and its high-security gates open inward with a mechanical whirr to let you in. You walk in unfazed and indifferent, being used to these luxuries. The garden decor is different today. A new statue of your favourite character is revolving slowly with a legendary weapon, "The Dawnbreaker", in its hands. It is said that this sword was forged in the fires and molten lava of an erupting volcano by a master weaponsmith. It is a heavy two-handed broadsword but can also be wielded in a single hand, sacrificing some power for more dexterity. Its serrated blade edges seem to drip blood when viewed in dim light. Under daylight, it creates the illusion of fire embers on its serrations. The hilt had two precious gemstones on each side, weighed and cut precisely to balance it out. You appreciate and
