While gaming and esports have been slowly gaining popularity in India over the past decade or so, the pandemic has rapidly accelerated the gaming industry's growth in India, helping it emerge as one of the leaders in consuming and contributing to this exciting field.

In order to cater to the growing demands of the gaming and esports industry in India, Hero Vired recently launched a certification course in gaming & eSports, in partnership with NODWIN Gaming. We spoke to Akshay Munjal, Founder and CEO, Hero Vired, to find out more about the certification course and how it's linked to the growth of gaming and esports in India. Edited excerpts follow!

Q Why does anyone in India and beyond need a certification course to help them excel in gaming and esports?

A The gaming and esports industry has seen tremendous growth in the last few years. India has the second largest number of internet users in the world, along with increasing access to relatively affordable smart devices. Bolstered by these factors, the Indian esports industry is expected to grow with a CAGR of 45% to reach ₹11 billion by 2025, according to an EY Report. This is the perfect catalyst for the rise of gaming companies, which will need a workforce which is equipped to meet the demands.

India has over 450 gaming companies and 450 million gamers across age groups, second only to China globally. However, there is very limited awareness today both amongst parents and the youth regarding the rapidly evolving opportunities in this sector. This certification program is a conscious endeavour to help bridge this gap. There are many aspirants who need a structured learning approach which will enable them to be employable in the sector or pursue entrepreneurship. The gaming course will serve as a good starting point to get acquainted with the fundamentals of the gaming industry and gain some insight into its working through a hands-on approach.

Q What's the curriculum offered for this certification course in gaming and esports, and what's the total cost?

A This is a one-of-its-kind certification program offered in partnership with NODWIN Gaming. It is a comprehensive, six-month-long program for aspirants which will prepare them for several roles in the gaming and esports industry, such as game designing, visualising, publishing, league operations, event ownership and management, live production, content creation, etc. It begins with a two-month primer on gaming and esports, and for the remaining four months, the learners can choose between gaming and eSports as a specialisation.

The program is priced at ₹4 lakh, however, 50% of the program fee can be directly recovered through a unique guaranteed five-month internship upon completing the course.

Q How's your certification course unique or different from multi-year game design or game programming diplomas offered by traditional education institutes as well as online MOOCs?

A One of our strengths that differentiates us from traditional educational institutes and online MOOCs is our focus on live delivery and deep industry linkages. We work closely with industry leaders, partners and experts to understand the required skill set. Moreover, the program will enable aspirants to start their careers in the
