Positive feedback on “Women in Tech” Cover Story [Digit, March 2023 Issue]

Dear Team Digit,

I am writing to express my appreciation for the recent cover story on “Women in Tech” featured in the latest issue of Digit magazine. The compendium of responses from 13 women leaders from India’s tech industry was truly inspiring and eye-opening. It’s refreshing to see a publication like Digit highlighting the achievements and struggles of women in technology.

As a woman who aspires to make a career in the tech industry, reading about the journeys of these successful women was truly empowering. It’s encouraging to know that despite the many challenges that women face in the tech industry, there are women who have broken through the glass ceiling and have made a significant impact in their fields.

I appreciate the efforts of the Digit team in bringing this cover story to your readers. It’s an important topic that needs to be discussed more often, and I hope to see more such stories in the future.

Sincerely,

–Shruti
