

Oppo F23, Realme 10 Pro+ or POCO X5 Pro: Which is better at ₹25,000?

A comparison between Oppo F23, Realme 10 Pro+ and POCO X5 Pro.

The world's largest smartphone market has been swayed with two recent smartphone launches in Q1 and Q2 which are Oppo F23 and POCO X5 Pro. The specifications of the two as mid-rangers in the market seem promising however, a player, Realme 10 Pro + that has been dominating the category previously in Q4 of 2022 offers quite similar features in the same range.

We are here to put forth all the features of these dominating mid-rangers so that you can identify what works for you best and choose the best option. Let's get started with the grilling!

Price and Availability

The three devices that we are about to compare for specifications and what they have to offer as mid-rangers are more or less in the same price bracket.

Price

- Oppo F23 is priced at ₹24,999/- and is a new player in the market with its latest release on May 15.
- Realme 10 Pro+ is priced ₹27,150/- released last year in December and explores powerful specifications which can be compared to the latest cell phones on the block.

- POCO X5 Pro is priced at ₹22,999/- and was released earlier this year in February.

You can explore the smartphones on our website digit.in after reading through the comparison.

Oppo F23 and POCO X5 Pro Realme 10 Pro +, unlike the other two, is available on both Amazon and Flipkart.

Specs

Now that we have set the price attributes for all the devices, let's explore what they have to offer in their price range.