

Celebrating 22 years of tech awesomeness!

We're celebrating 22 years of being your trusty tech sidekick, and it's been one heck of a wild ride! From flip phones to smart homes, dial-up connections to 5G networks, and floppy disks to cloud storage, we've seen it all. While the tech world has morphed faster than Clark Kent in a phone booth, our unwavering commitment to serving you has remained stronger than the password on your super-secret Wi-Fi network.

As we blow out the candles on this anniversary cake, we're not just reminiscing about the past, but eagerly looking towards the future. And who better to guide us than you, our tech-savvy tribe? We've got a burning question for you: What do you want next from your beloved tech magazine?

Internally, we've been geeking out over some ideas that could make your eyes light up like an OLED screen (the really bright ones). A whole new section dedicated to AI, how does that sound? We're talking monthly wrap-ups on AI happenings, captivating interviews with industry geniuses, and juicy insights into the AI scene in India. Yes, we'd certainly be regularly fantasising (and writing) about AI taking over to keep those theories alive.

But wait, there's more! We're not just stopping at AI (there's no stopping AI...anyways). We're expanding our best product lists to cover every nook and cranny of the tech universe. From smartphones that could power a spaceship to headphones that make you hear your favourite tunes in surround sound dreams, we want to be your ultimate tech shopping guru. A much more expanded version of our Top 10 lists and best buy features is what comes to mind. Would that make you want to be the first to lay your hands on the Digit copy every month? Or is it too old-school for you with Google and its shiny new Ba(r)d boy by your side?

Is SKOAR! doing justice to your gaming appetite or do we pull out the BFGs and go all bonkers on gaming content? Are you craving a dedicated section on AR/VR gaming? Picture yourself diving headfirst into alternate realities, slaying dragons, or even just chilling on a virtual beach paradise. Do you want moar of SKOAR!? Just drop a hint and the edit team will love you to death!

This anniversary issue is your treasure trove of tips and hacks to squeeze every drop of awesomeness from your existing gadgets. But here's the twist: we want to know if you want more of these juicy secrets every month. It's like having a secret cheat code for life, but instead of unlocking unlimited lives, you'll unlock infinite tech mastery. More tips and hacks? Anyone?

So, fellow tech enthusiasts, it's your time to shine. Imagine us as your tech genie, eagerly waiting to grant your wishes. Share your wildest dreams, your craziest ideas, and your most unconventional requests. We're all ears! Nothing is off the table. We've even launched a structured reader survey, so go ahead and scan that QR code on this page. Your feedback will be our guiding light as we navigate the uncharted territories of the tech world.

Thank you for being a part of this remarkable 22-year journey! We're honoured to have been your geeky friend through bits and bytes, clunky dial-up modems, and pocket-sized supercomputers. As the tech landscape continues to evolve faster than ever, we promise to be by your side, building, nurturing, guiding, celebrating, and progressing together.

Let the tech adventures continue!

Yours truly,
Soham Raninga
