Here's a very likely scenario - your friend is planning to buy a new gaming PC. Obviously, you would want to help out a dear friend, wouldn't you? You would certainly help him identify the right components, then hunt down the best deals and even accompany your friend as he goes about buying all the necessary components. That's when you realise that you can build a pretty good gaming PC for cheap! And if you can one-up your friend, then there's nothing like it.

Bring it on!

When you pair the AMD Ryzen 5 7600X with an RX 6750 XT, you've got a formidable combination that can put a lot of your friends' PCs to shame. Not only are you getting the benefits of the latest AMD 'Zen 4' processor architecture that has been doing really well with video games, but there's also Smart Access Memory (SAM) which allows the CPU to leverage the GPU's memory for a little extra performance. On top of that, we've switched to DDR5 memory standard and there's even a PCIe Gen 4.0 SSD to take things to the next level.

Game and Stream X3000

The new AMD processors with the 3D V-Cache have dethroned the Intel processors for gaming and with a lot of cores at its disposal, the AMD Ryzen 9 7950X3D is also exceptionally great at churning out multimedia content.

The NVIDIA RTX 4070 Ti is a kick-ass graphics card that can really make ray-traced reflections come to life in video games thanks to the power of DLSS.

What's even better about this configuration is that you don't need to worry about picking whether you want to game or stream because you can do both at the same time on this powerhouse. Play AAA games or edit 4K videos, this rig is capable of doing it all! You might need to ask your folks for a LOT of change though!
