

multiplayer games. These kids today, they've got mouths like sailors! Back in my day, we kept it civil!

Boo-Man: Amen to that, Granny. Online gaming? More like online name-calling and rage quitting. They make the YouTube comment section look like a Zen garden.

Agent001: Hold on, you two. It's not all bad. Sure, there are trolls and toxic players, but there are also great communities out there. I've made friends from all over the world through online gaming.

Gangsta Granny: You do have a point there, Agent001. Sometimes, you meet some real gems in the rough. But we gotta clean up the toxicity, or it'll keep driving people away from the joy of gaming.

Boo-Man: It's a tough nut to crack, that's for sure. But until we figure it out, I'll stick to my single-player games. No online drama for me, thank you very much.

Agent001: Fair enough, Boo-Man. Everyone has their own way of enjoying games. Let's just hope the online gaming community can become a more welcoming place for all.

The cost of gaming hardware: Calls for an eco round?

Agent001: Now, let's shift gears and talk about the rising costs of gaming hardware. You know, you don't have to break the bank to have a good gaming experience.

Boo-Man: Oh, really, Agent001? Have you found a budget-friendly graphics card for me? Because last time I checked, they were as rare as a unicorn in a snowstorm.

Gangsta Granny: You're right, dearie. These companies are milking us dry. But with Agent001's tips, we can game on a budget and still enjoy our favourite titles.

Agent001: Absolutely, Granny! It's all about finding the right deals, being patient, and making the most of what you have. Gaming can be accessible to everyone.

Boo-Man: I'll believe it when I see it. These hardware manufacturers have us gamers in their pocket, and they know it. But hey, I guess if you're passionate about gaming, you'll find a way to make it work.

Gangsta Granny: That's the spirit, Boo-Man! We gamers are a resourceful bunch. We'll always find a way to get our gaming fix.

Icons or Oddballs?

Boo-Man: Let's get back to the fun stuff, shall we? Favourite game char-