

11 Don't worry about Cast

Casting via smartphone to your TV is now a lot less restricted across apps and platforms. For instance, you can easily cast from Android or iOS smartphones to a Google TV or say a Fire TV.

12 Voice Control is convenient

TVs that support popular smart home assistants and come equipped with far-field microphones for hands-free voice commands can be incredibly convenient, particularly if you have a well-established smart home ecosystem.

13 Surround Sound

Many TVs ship with surround sound speakers and on some high-end options like Sony A80L, the effect is quite convincing. However, for a truly impactful surround sound experience, consider investing in an external audio system.

14 Which brands to buy?

The spec sheet and features won't tell you much about the actual colour performance. So if reviews are unavailable and you are buying from online stores, it is safer to side with legacy TV brands.

15 Look for deals on last-gen models

Opt for previous-generation models to maximize value. You'll often enjoy a significant discount without a substantial drop in performance. d
