

The Students Dream Team: NIIT, Neemrana

Every year, the hallowed grounds of NIIT University come alive with an electrifying blend of technology, tradition, and compassion, all converging under one name - siNUsoid. This annual extravaganza isn't just any tech fest; it's a transformative experience in and of itself. Mark your calendars and set your alarms because the siNUsoid V7 extravaganza is set to take place from November 3rd to 5th this year.

Here at siNUsoid, we believe in nurturing young minds and instilling the power of technology at the right age and time. It's not just about coding and circuits; it's about fostering personal growth, embracing change, and creating a lasting impact.

The dream team that made it all possible:

Kunal - Kunal is the man with a one-track mind that's so cool, it's the Executive of our team. His singular focus on securing support for siNUsoid V7 has transformed him into a Sponsorship God. With unwavering dedication and a knack for building connections, Kunal ensures that siNUsoid V7 receives the recognition and backing it truly deserves. He's the key player who turns possibilities into partnerships.

Aditi - Aditi is the vibrant heart of siNUsoid as our PR and Marketing Core, known for her talkative nature and persuasive prowess. Her ability to turn words into captivating stories is second to none, as evident from her poetry performances. Her persuasive charm is the driving force behind the footfall at siNUsoid V7.

Tanvi - Tanvi is the dynamic force at the helm of siNUsoid as our Digital Design and Capture Core, a leader who seamlessly juggles two teams. She effortlessly transitions between a motherly figure, gently rebuking her leads, then to an older sister, gently nudging them in the right direction. Tanvi's approach ensures that the visual essence of siNUsoid V7 is nothing short of spectacular.

Jatin - Jatin, the Event Curation Core, is the one who always seems to be carrying a touch of stress, but for all the right reasons. His meticulous attention to detail and unwavering commitment to delivering an exceptional event sometimes keeps him on his toes.

Smakshi - Smakshi, The Core for Content Writing, is the charming conversationalist of our team, effortlessly holding and entertaining any banter that comes her way. Her wit and eloquence are unmatched, making her the life of any gathering. However, there's a delightful twist to her persona: she has an unmistakable passion for all things fandom-related, especially fanfics. Smakshi adds a dash of excitement to the siNUsoid V7 journey.

Rachit - As the Core for Tech, in a Tech Fest, Rachit is the fearless innovator who knows no bounds when it comes to progress. He's the one who, without hesitation, discards all existing efforts to start afresh and aim for something even better. His dedication to pushing boundaries and embracing new technological horizons is unparalleled. His forward-thinking approach doesn't stop there; he's also a driving force behind pushing the entire siNUsoid team to be better.

Manohar - Manohar, as the Core of Operations, is the unsung hero of siNUsoid V7. He is the maestro responsible for all the heavy lifting and the sturdy backbone of the fest, ensuring that every logistical detail is flawlessly executed, allowing the rest of the team to shine. His dedication to smoothen operations and his ability to handle the nitty-gritty aspects of the fest make him the silent force that keeps siNUsoid V7 running efficiently.

Sraddha - Sraddha, as the Creative Core, is responsible for crafting the fest's ambience through captivating sculptures and paintings. Her creativity knows no bounds, and it effortlessly flows not only into her visual art but also into her passion for classical dancing. Sraddha's ability to translate her artistic visions into tangible, awe-inspiring experiences sets the stage for siNUsoid V7. ■