

belkin BoostCharge Pro

The Belkin Boost Charge Pro is a versatile and elegant charging solution for your iPhone, Apple Watch, and AirPods. It features a 15W MagSafe charger that can hold your iPhone in portrait or landscape mode, a magnetic charger for your Apple Watch, and a Qi wireless charger for your AirPods.

Design-wise, the Boost Charge Pro is identical to the prior-generation version that came out in early 2021 for the iPhone 12 models. Made from a white plastic material coated in a soft silicone, there is a round circular base with a T-shaped arm that has a 15W MagSafe charger on the left and an Apple Watch charging puck on the right, along with a 5W wireless charger in the middle.

The base is sturdy, it doesn't take up too much room on a desk, and the angle of the charging bases is ideal for glancing over at an iPhone or Apple Watch in the middle of the night. The design won't suit everyone's tastes, and without any devices on it, it looks a little large and out of place. However, when it is fully loaded it makes more sense and provides the maximum wireless charging speeds for up to three devices. Belkin is known for its great design, build quality, and reliability, offering an insurance policy for devices connected to its products for charging faults in some regions. But is the BoostCharge PRO 3-in-1 worth the ₹14,000 price tag? This places it firmly in the premium bracket when it comes to wireless charging stations. The Belkin Boost Charge Pro is a premium and powerful wireless charger for Apple fans. It's a statement piece for a desk or nightstand, and its impressive design makes it a truly stunning option. It may only charge two devices at once, but what it lacks in quantity, it makes up for in utility and personality.

XECH Eye Massager Machine for Pain Relief

The XECH Eye Massager Machine for Pain Relief is a portable, rechargeable device designed to alleviate eye strain and discomfort. It uses heat, vibration, and air pressure to provide a soothing massage. The device features five different massage modes, allowing users to customize their experience based on their needs. Some users have found the heat to be a bit lower compared to other products, but overall, the device has been praised for its effectiveness. However, some users have reported that the device applies hard pressure on the upper cheek bones, which can cause discomfort lasting for several hours. It's also been noted that the device may not fit properly on the eyes for some users. Despite these concerns, many users have found the XECH Eye Massager to be a valuable tool for relieving daily eye tiredness and improving sleep quality. It's also been praised for its battery life, making it a great option for travel. In conclusion, the XECH Eye Massager Machine for Pain

Relief is a versatile and user-friendly device that can help alleviate eye strain and promote relaxation. However, potential buyers should be aware of the device's pressure points and ensure it fits properly for optimal comfort and effectiveness.
