

AMOLED full-view display provides a clear view of the watch's interface, making it easy to navigate through its various features.

One of the standout features of this watch is its support for five major navigation satellite systems. This feature can be particularly beneficial for tracking outdoor activities such as hiking, cycling, or running. It allows users to accurately track their routes and monitor their progress, making it an excellent tool for fitness enthusiasts. This is a rarity in this price range.

The watch's health monitoring features are another highlight. They offer 24-hour protection with one-touch health measurement, providing users with real-time data about their health status. The watch supports 120 workout modes, catering to a wide variety of indoor and outdoor activities. Whether you're into yoga, swimming, or weightlifting, this watch has got you covered. And, given the history of the brand and the experience that I had with its tracking abilities, you will not have a lot to worry about here.

The built-in Honor Health app tracks health metrics such as heart rate, sleep quality, and stress levels, providing useful insights for health-conscious users. This data can be used to make informed decisions about your lifestyle and fitness routine, helping you achieve your health goals. The Bluetooth calling feature is a convenient addition that allows users to make or take calls with one tap. This can be particularly handy for day-to-day use, allowing you to stay connected without having to constantly check your phone. The watch also supports SOS emergency calls, adding an extra layer of safety for users.

The 5ATM water-resistance rating makes the watch suitable for workouts, even in wet conditions. Whether you're caught in a downpour during a run or you're doing laps in the pool, this watch can handle it. The 300mAh non-removable battery ensures that the watch can last for a reasonable amount of time before needing a recharge, so you won't have to worry about it dying in the middle of a workout. The watch is available in black and white colors, offering options to match different styles. Whether you prefer a classic black look or a sleek white design, there's an option for you.

Should you buy?

The Honor Choice watch makes for an interesting entry into the Indian smartwatch market. It does offer a lot of features that are baked into the watch, however, there are some things left to be desired in terms of build quality. Overall, it might not be the outright best in its price range, with brands like Amazfit, with their experience in the smartwatch space bringing in all that you would desire from a watch. However, it should be in your list of contenders, because of its features and tracking capabilities. [d]