We're all tech-addicted Tarzans, swinging from Facebook vines to Instagram branches. But even Tarzan needs a break! A tech detox is your waterfall oasis. It's unplugging the chargers and silencing the tweets. It's about rediscovering the 'Off' button and using it. Why? Because your brain craves the calm, your eyes need a break from the blue light, and your thumbs could use a rest from endless scrolling. Remember, even your devices perform better after a reboot!
