

Face detection for security purposes using Raspberry Pi

can help you find the right sensor for measurement or device to perform some action. For beginners, we recommend the help of an expert who understands various parameters. 