

If all else fails...

There's always that ever-looming Sword of Damocles that is the 'what if?'. What if this leads nowhere? What if I'm not as good as I think I am? What if uncle-aunty-mumma-papa and didi were just saying I'm awesome to keep my spirits high?

Well, what's life without a little risk?

Take a chance, and you may even surprise yourself. In the very least, at least you'll have some fun. When's the last time they taught you how to do that? 3rd grade?

And yet, in the face of reality, be smart enough to have some kind of fallback option. The safety net. That old MBA or Engineering degree. Or in the very least, a viable grasp of English so that Digit can hire you as a writer and make your ends meet. Never leave home without a fallback. But don't forget to never stop learning, either. Keep your heart, mind and soul at constant work. An idle mind is a motherboard ant-hill. Fried and useless. So turn the page and get started!
