

A BRAND NEW VIRTUAL WORLD

What's all this hype about the launch of Oculus Rift? What's VR all about? We begin this journey with small detour down memory lane.

On a scale of zero to ten, what do you think are your chances of going to Mars, swimming in Icelandic waters, or rocking the stage with Mick Jagger? Next to impossible right? That's what we thought.

But if Virtual Reality is able to live up to its promise, you may as well be able to do all these crazy things. And the perk is, without even leaving your home!

Virtual Reality simulates all the bits of the real and imaginary world. These bits are simulated using high performance computers along with sensory equipments like gloves and headsets.

The possibilities with VR are limitless. Put your goggles on, go nowhere and get transported to anywhere. It's the same brand of escape delivered by psychotropic drugs but infinitely more safe. Born from technology, the experience generated by VR is certainly worth experiencing. Trust us we've