

You can modify the provisioning profile by accessing it on the Apple Developer website and then redownload it and reinstall it.

Configuring your app

We are in the final stretch now! Open Xcode and select your project. Under the Targets section open Build Settings from the top menu bar.

We are only concerned with the Code Signing section. Under 'Code Signing Identity', set the Debug option to 'iOS Developer'.

Building and Testing

You can now build your RSS reader app and run it on your device. In the menu bar of Xcode, you should see a play button, and right next to it lies the Device selection. Connect your iOS device to your Mac and ensure that the device is selected. Click on the play button. The app will be installed on one of your physical device. Once the installation is done, go ahead and fire it up! d