

iTunes Connect

This is the portal you'll be using to submit your apps. Any new apps will be registered here, the apps descriptions, price, screenshots, game center configuration and in-app purchases are all entered and done here.

Any new contracts, financial data and sales information will also be here.

First we'll tackle the iOS Provisioning Portal. You'll need to set yourself up with the information you'll need to deploy your app onto the App Store.

There's a lot of things you need to at this portal. Some of the things, such as generating your certificates and registering your devices will only need to be done once. Other things will have to be repeated each time you decide to make a new app, such as registering development and distribution profiles.

First things first, go to the certificates option and request yourself a certificate. To do so you simply need to click on the "Request Certificate" option which you'll find on your screen if you clicked on the certificates option.

Now in order to ask for a certificate you need to go through a certain process.

For this you'll need to leave your browser and open the Keychain Access app on your Mac. If you don't know where to find it, use Spotlight to search for it.
