

other errors are bound to show as well. QuickSprout is a pretty efficient tool for finding these out so that you can fix them.

4. Leverage the power of the infographic

Infographics offer a simple means to increase your search traffic. The number of visitors you can gain with infographics is usually way higher than what you would get from sheer text-based content.

The key to creating great infographics is to focus on the information. It's hardly enough if you just add interesting graphic element without the presence of solid information that will be relevant to the user. A study done by Unbounce shows that the number of customers who are searching for infographics is on the rise. It's said that just in the past 2 to 3 years, the demand for infographics has increased by 800 percent – a trend that's sure to continue for a good while to come. There's a simple reason why users

Infographics may be images, but they can sure add to your page rank