

Be sure to diagnose any problem your phone and take measures in case it is acting up

If all the above conditions are met, then all you need is to Google “Where is my phone” and your phone’s location shall be displayed on Google maps. It works most of the time, just be sure that ADM is activated in your device.

Conclusion

Last but not the least, make sure your phone is always safe with you and stay away from pickpockets. Phones are inevitable parts of our livelihood and now you are equipped with the knowledge to fend off hackers and malicious attacks. Just remember to be cautious and follow all our steps and you shall be fine. Android does a good job at offering security options even though it is so widely use and subjected to constant attacks. d