

company from which the offer supposedly originated and verify if they have launched such an offer/campaign.

With these measures in place, your social life online ought to be safe and secure. Enjoy the updates, respond with emojis – even the tongue out variety, and have no worries! Yeah, that's life, at least when there's no work to do. d

Too good is not always for the good