

SECURE YOUR CLOUD DATA

Though every service promises security of your data, this ‘security’ has far more facets than those which meet the eye

Remember one of your friends' birthday when you planted face-first on the giant pizza and your best friend took a snap of that moment? Well you did ask your friend to put it safe on the cloud, so it should be fine, right? Or not?

Cloud storage and online backup have now become household terms. We use it to save our important documents which we want to make avail-