

peak in. Along with a highly secure storage service, one also provides a backup service, which while being highly secure is a bit complicated. There is no actual 'Restore' button, instead you're forced to download the files and folders to a location of your choice. An ability to automatically download to the original location is missing. Also there are no step-by-step wizards to guide you along the way. From the perspective of user interface the service leaves a lot to desire. But as mentioned before, this one's a mighty contender for security. Unlike most sync services, one doesn't require you to create a separate folder, instead you can choose any of your existing folders to be enabled for syncing.

Pricing:

- 2GB - Free - 60-Day trial
- 30GB - $7/Month or $79/Year
- 1TB - $12/Month or $129/Year
- 5TB - $25/Month or $279/Year

Now sometimes for some reasons you cannot leave your existing service. Maybe you have your work ecosystem setup or you're not ready to leave
