

ONE HUB TO RULE THEM ALL

A brain-like smart device to look after your other smart devices

Remember J.A.R.V.I.S (acronym for Just Another Rather Very Intelligent System) from Iron Man? The A.I. that controls everything from his armour to the drapes on his window and even reminds him to take his medicine. Imagine walking into your house after a long day at work, probably spent saving the world in your armour, and the lights in your house switch on automatically, the temperature is set to 25 degrees, just the way you like it, and your 'smart bathtub' ready with a