

HOME AUTOMATION SOFTWARE

As the 'brain' within the hardware, the software not only lets you control your smart home, it help you unlock the true potential of home automation.

Gone are the days when we would sit and speak about Internet of Things in hushed tones- the idea being something that's going to revolutionize the world in the near future. Because as of now, the future has arrived. And the revolution seems to be happening right inside your home- that is, if you are automating your home.