

THE FUTURE OF HOME AUTOMATION

So how will a fully automated home of the future look like?

The future of the smart house

By now we have a rough idea about how far we have come towards the goal of developing a true smart house which is perpetually interconnected and forever 'online'. What felt like a dream twenty years ago, is now almost a reality. The growth in the technology that goes into a building a smart home has been on a steep upward curve. And the next wave that'll hit this industry will transform it in ways that are probably incomprehensible now.