

Your friendly robot that tells interesting stories to children recognition system so it knows who it is talking to. An interesting addition to the family study.

Cubic

This one seems like something straight out of a sci-fi movie. This little block comes with a pair of wireless earphones so that you can talk to it all the time. It is even considered by some as the first robot with true A.I. and personality. Imagine the weird conversations you can have with it. And it remembers your preferences so yeah...creepy.

This has a very Black Mirror feel to it. Anyone?

Budgee

The Budgee is a personal follow you around robot which acts like your automatic shopping cart wherever you go. Those trips to the grocery stores will now be made easier with your battery powered friend. It has a ten-hour