

those are the only things to learn for which people would turn to YouTube. There are more than 135 million how-to videos out there. So, definitely a trend!

Comedy-skit

Let's be thoroughly honest here: most of the video watching on YouTube happens at work. And while at work, the principal reason you turn to videos is to take out the stress. And what better way to do it than by watching some comedy? And that's the reason why comedy-skits or anything comedic would have a loyal audience as long as people have to work for a living.

Kid videos

Kids are cute/funny at practically whatever they do. So, keep the camera trained on them and you are sure to get enough material to get the kid loving population out there popping their eyes in glee.

Game play

So, you are an expert at killing the enemy faction in 'Call of Duty' or maybe are awesome as Batman in 'Batman:Arkham'-better even than the real Batman! You can show off your gaming skills and hopefully build an Spread the gyaan!

Laugh your way into the audience's heart

Little but cute!

Play to the audience's delight!