

audience on YouTube. There are already quite a few celebs in this arena – the likes of Markiplier and Vanoss.

Reaction videos

The idea is to capture reactions of people while they are pranked, presented with a surprise or maybe while watching a video (even a YouTube video!). A few years back, no one could have said that this would become a thing.

Singers

There can never be enough music in this world. So, all you singers out there, bring out your vocal prowess on camera and let the world enjoy on YouTube.

Time lapse videos

For some reason, a large number of people like to watch things that happen over a long time compressed and presented to them in a short running video. It takes a bit of patience to pull this off. Okay, it takes a LOT of patience to pull this off.

Your everyday life

No, seriously. This is a bona fide trend on YouTube. Of course, you should either have a very exciting life, or a very interesting way of looking at life.

From 'Eww!' to 'Woww!' and everything in between

Give voice to music

When time is on your side

Finding interestingness in the mundane