

Tips on picking your ideas based on your area of interest

Now that you are familiar with the major trends that are seen among YouTube channels, you might have seen that a broad area of your interest intersects with one of the trends. If that's the case, then how would you further home in on the precise idea that you want to adopt?

Here are a few pointers that may help.

Funny

If you have a funny bone that's particularly robust (or ticklish, whichever way you want to look at it) and you don't know how to take things from there, you can perhaps make a choice from the following:

- Funny kids
- Funny mistakes
- Funny accidents
- Jokes

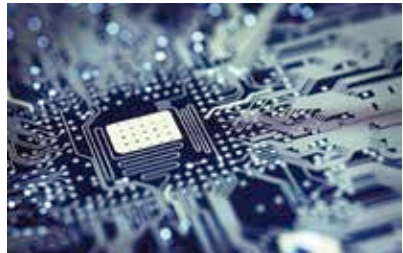

No joking matter if you can get eyeballs

Technology

If you are a tech geek (which you probably are since you are reading Digit!), you can consider the following categories for your channel:

- The future of technology
- Gadget reviews
- Applying technology in daily life
- Major tech news

Speaking about the future..

Gaming

For the gaming expert in you, there are quite a few things you can communicate to a like minded audience:

- Game reviews
- Game hacks
- How-to play video guides
- Cheats
