

Tutorials

So, you have a flair to teach. Then, these are some things you can look at:

- Tutorials to develop a particular skill- like, er..., kung-fu?
- Language lessons
- How to do something (Cooking, crafts, etc.)
- Explaining how something works

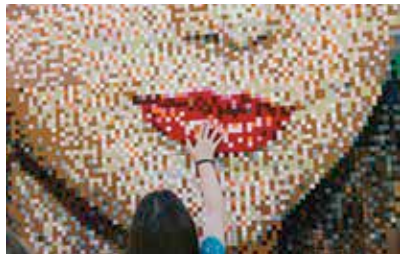

Celeb culture

If you are a close follower of celebrity lifestyle and culture, YouTube can be a great place to present:

- Short bios
- Celeb gossip
- Focusing on one aspect of celebs. For instance, celebs who are also philanthropists, upcoming movies of celebs, birthdays of celebs, etc.
- Best / worst works of celebs

For the love of teaching!

The worshipper and the worshipped!

Growth tips

If you are someone who believes that one shouldn't stop growing (not necessarily in the physical sense), you can share your knowledge with others via YouTube. Here are a few options:

- Relationship tips
- Tips to grow business
- Tips for a greener environment

Give a hand to growth

Motivational

Who could actually go through an entire life without having the need for motivation every now and then? If you can provide that, there's a big audience who would be thankful. And here are some ways in which you can do that:
