

Social Tools

You can make use of the social features from Google to broadcast to an even larger number of fans. For instance, you can create a Google+ Page for the channel, or you can even broadcast live to fans via Hangouts on Air.

Making use of animated templates

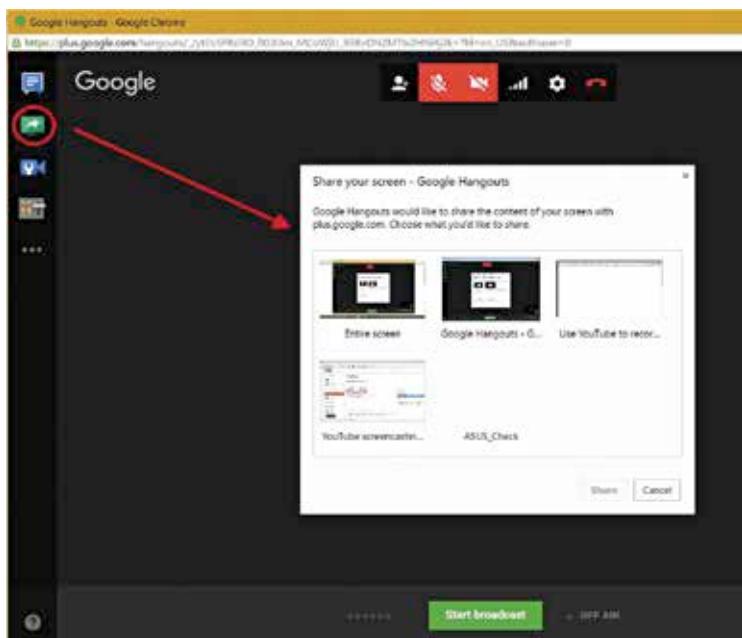

Sometimes, a tastefully chosen animated template would make all the difference in your video. There are many video software programs that would enable you to do this, one of them being VideoMakerFX. You can create professional-gradient animated videos on your own. And the best part, it takes only a few minutes!

Add more life with animation

Recording screencasts

One way to show your expertise on a subject-especially if it's a teaching video that you are making is by making video screencasts or screen record-

Make it easier for the audience with screencasts