

viewer base, get you good branding deals and help collaborate with other YouTubers, but the thing is you can do all of these on your own too, albeit, you'll have to put in more effort. But all your money will be yours. We will suggest avoiding going down this road. There are a number of other ways to promote yourself, and with dedicated time and effort you can make it big on your own.

How to earn money through affiliate marketing?

Affiliate marketing is one of the most common way to earn money online and you must have come across the term for sure if you have ever Googled 'how to earn money online'.

PewDiePie, the richest YouTube celeb is strictly against MCNs and believes they are not doing anything but 'leeching off smaller YouTube creators'

In simplest terms, in affiliate marketing you recommend some online product and get a commission every time someone earns money because of your recommendation.

Generally people put affiliate links (specifically generated URLs that track who sent the user to the seller's website) on their blogs, websites and social media. They recommend the product and ask people to buy it from their affiliate link. Every time someone does this, they get paid.

YouTube Affiliate marketing works in the same way. You recommend some product, put its affiliate link in your description box and every time someone clicks it and buys the product, you get a commission. Affiliate