

marketing can help you earn good money, but it is not for everyone. You cannot put affiliate links to some online product if all you make are reaction videos. Your channel needs to have a niche that has a number of products being sold online. You also need to have a good fanbase of people who trust your recommendations.

If you want to succeed in YouTube affiliate marketing, follow these tips.

- Try to get into a niche that has lots of products being sold online, some of which are gaming, survival tips, fashion etc.
- Garner a strong fanbase that are loyal and trust our recommendations. The best way to ensure this is constantly coming up with good content and recommendations.
- Link your channel to your social media and blogs and increase the reach of your affiliate links.

Other indirect ways to earn money through your YouTube channel

- Crowdfunding/ Donations - You can ask your subscribers to donate money to help you keep your channel alive, or crowdfund a pet project of yours.
- Merchandises - Instead of getting paid you may get to keep the merchandises you get to review or test at times. This is a good deal, especially when you are starting off your YouTube career.
- Upload your content on other platforms - The content you are creating is your own and you are not restricted only to

Upload the content you are creating onto other websites like Vimeo and Dailymotion and increase your audience

YouTube. Upload the videos to other websites like Vimeo and Dailymotion and open up another stream of revenue from there. d