

APPLE HOME AND HOMEKIT

Apple is helping consumers make their homes smarter. Find out how.

One of Apple's biggest USPs, since long has been its exclusive ecosystem. For a company that started off making home computers, Apple has obviously come a long way, dominating the tech industry with products in almost every category. From tablets, phones, computers, laptops to software services like cloud storage and music streaming. With each new tech product or service, the value of this ecosystem kept on increasing, and the need for consumers to step out of this ecosystem kept on decreasing. Critics of Apple and its exclusive ecosystem call it restrictive, but it is because of this restrictiveness that apple has been able to keep everything so smooth and cohesive