

- Siri Translation and personalised Music

Siri can now be asked to translate phrases from English to Chinese, Spanish, French, German or Italian. The other improvement is the better integration with Apple music so that when you ask Siri to play stuff suited to your taste, it probably won't disappoint you.

- AirPlay 2

If you have speakers in every room of the house paired with your iPhone, you'll be able to synchronise or manipulate each device individually thanks to AirPlay 2.

- Customisable Control Centre

This is another me-too from Apple as you can now customise how your Control Centre should appear and in which order. Something that Android has been doing for ages.

- Automatic Setup

We don't know why this wasn't implemented earlier but if you are migrating from one iDevice to other or simply adding another iDevice to your pool, you can simply synchronise all settings, preferences and iCloud Keychain passwords using Automatic Setup.
