

Archived pictures can be found through here.

pictures from the main photos carousel and this has been taken care of in a recent update with the addition of the archive feature. Now users can select photos and videos and archive them with a tap through the options menu within the app. Doing this would hide the selected pictures from the main carousel and these pictures will be grouped together in the archive. It must be noted that archiving photos doesn't hide them from being visible under search results in the app.

What improvements we want to see:

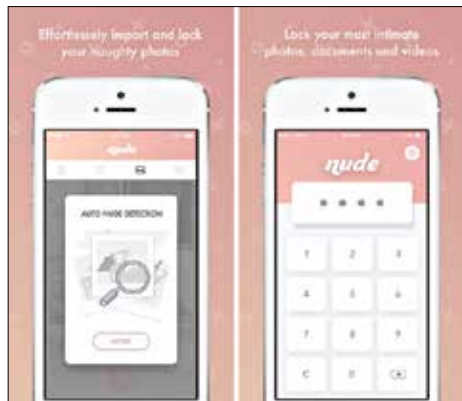

Improved privacy for sensitive photos: Raunchy pics are a part of life now whether you like it or not. The new 'Archive' feature notwithstanding, there needs to be fine grained control over individual pictures in terms of adding a locking functionality for privacy such that sensitive images don't appear in search and albums. Another idea is to auto-search all sensitive (read nudes) photos from within your collection of pictures using AI and provide a way to separate and lock them. This has been recently implemented in an app christened 'Nude' which does exactly that.

The addition of a feature that can auto-filter and recommend blurry pictures for deleting or separating from the main gallery would be a big win.
