

YouTube

The fascinating story of how a small startup became the world's premier video sharing service, and what lies in its future.

It is said that 'a picture is worth a thousand words'. Like a thousand other cliches, this one sprung out of nowhere, and it tends to give more credit to visual art than to written mastery. Perhaps if this cliché were to be extended into the digital age, it would say 'a picture is worth a thousand words, and a video is worth every picture that enters its frame, making it worth hundreds of thousands of words'. But such an addendum would not be possible without YouTube.

So synonymous is YouTube with the world of digital video, that if something isn't on YouTube, it might as well have not happened. It is