

to an unknown destination for vacation or whatever reason. The app helps you find hotels, restaurants, and the locations easily. The remaining three tools are useful for students, be it for projects or assignments. Moreover, these geo-based tools can also be made use of for research purposes. Going forward, we expect more features and improvements to be added to these tools based on user feedback. We hope you will explore these tools and leverage the rich benefits of technology in geographical world. d