

Contracts and payments

Secure your payments and avoid headaches. Let's also explore the maze of GST and how you can deal with it

So you spruced up your portfolio, went out in the wild world and bagged your first client; did an awesome job, got paid and had a celebratory drink. Then came the next client, then the next and soon you were immersed in work and enjoying yourself thoroughly. Then came along the client you wished you didn't get. The client that needed, nay, demanded multiple revisions and editing, changed the scope of the work midway and delayed or even outright refused payment. Now there are no celebratory evenings but those full of frustration. If this has happened to you, join the club. We have
