

Wordsmithing like your own boss

Today's technologically enhanced marketplace allows you to write away your monetary worries

Writing is one of the most obvious professional vocations that can be carried out from the comfort of one's home (or internet connected getaway). Since a writing service is inherently an information based trade, the manufacturing of the product is location independent. For example, this very chapter has been written on the other side of the planet. Text can be transferred easily