

Blogging

If you would like to establish a strong presence on the web, you should venture into the land of blogging. It can be a lucrative way to make money from home.

The basics

Blogging is nothing but a term used in the online world for writing. It started off as a digital version of maintaining a diary but eventually expanded to commentary on current events, news, reviews and a host of other niche subject areas. A blog thus is the website where you host this content and a blogger is a person who writes and publishes the content i.e. you. To start blogging, you need to build a proper website with all the necessary elements. Moreover, you can also earn a considerable amount of revenue in various
