

The next step is to install a reliable plugin such as Yoast SEO, which will help you to write SEO optimized content. The plugin automatically guide you as to whether the content is SEO friendly or not. If you repeat focus keyword several times, the plugin will alert you to remove them until the icon shows green symbol. The All in One SEO Pack is also an excellent plugin but we recommend Yoast SEO.

SEO Friendly URLs

The first step before you start composing the blog posts should be to change the format of the URL. This step is absolutely essential to enable search engines like Google and Bing to locate your blog. If you navigate to Settings | Permalinks, you will find a wide range of URL options. You need to select a format and click the 'Save Changes' button. If you have installed WordPress in a Windows server, you should upload a .htaccess file to the root folder for the generation of friendly URLs.

Configure SEO Friendly URLs without modifying code

Finding topics for your blog

Once you have successfully installed a theme and configured SEO Friendly URLs, you should find topics to write. The best way to fetch ideas is to hit Google News. You will find plenty of news separated by categories. You will be able to get a basic idea about the various trending topics. For example, if your blog is based on gadgets, you should select the Technology category to find the list of trending news. If you find 'Honor 7X launched' on Google News, then it is possible to gather data regarding the features, specifications and price from the various sources. You can also refer to Google Trends (http://digit.in/goo_trends) for a list of all the latest viral content published on the web.